

Basic Instructions

Here is just a basic guide, for more detailed instructions please read the instructions on the products that came with the starter kit

1. Sterilise the fermenting bin with the steriliser and rinse
2. Add the kit to the fermenting bin
3. Rinse can out with hot water
4. Add the required amount of sugar, and top the water up to the 23 litres mark
5. Sterilise Hydrometer and take reading of the wort, should be around 1035 - 1045
6. Check temperature (The LCD strip should be stuck on the side of the bin)
7. If under 25oC add the yeast, if over wait until under and give it a good stir
8. Once you have added the yeast, cover the bin with the lid but don't press it all the way down, leave about ¼ on the bin loose so the Co2 can escape but the fly's cant get in
9. Leave in a warm place for 5- 7 days, 16- 25 oC would be great. A airing cupboard is too hot, nothing over 25oC
10. Sterilise hydrometer and take a reading should be around 1005-1010, if not leave it to ferment for another day and once more check. If at 1000- 1005 continue to the next bit, if not leave until you have exactly the same readings for 2 days in a row.
11. Sterilise and rinse the bottles and siphon tube
12. Add a ¼ Teaspoon sugar, to each bottle and siphon the beer into the bottles leaving about 1 inch from the top and cap the bottles.
13. Leave bottles somewhere warm (NOT airing cupboard) for about 5 days, then move to somewhere cold for 3-4 weeks before drinking.
14. Drink and plan your next batch
